

And the Award Goes to... by Manohar Khushalani

DELHI (DAILY NEWS) JUNE 6, 1988

12

SMORGASBORD

And the award goes to...

winning. The younger son who comes home after the school is stressed to watch TV. Inside the family is busy watching the latest news, the in-hospitality daughter-in-law puts up a quiet rebellion. The old man, who used to receive moral lessons to the children in their younger days, has had and wants the focus of the

when they are disturbed the children's eyes.

'Elate At One' is an attempt at examining the ramifications of working the ethics of living, respect, environment, a message from the victim experience change - mental, physical and spiritual - before, during and after the flood of death. The film is an intimate environment and think seriously for the possible ways by which it can be passed on. An award was given to the episode on 'Moral Education' which deals with other issues in a deeper environmental problem. The possible cause of moral education and the efforts of each individual in different human beings environment is Director, Commission for Educational Communication (CEC), Dr. G.D. Sharma, finally announced the UGC-CEC award for the best educational film of 1987. Three awards were bestowed to promote and encourage producing and winning of environment film and documentaries. The film was awarded 250,000 rupees for its award in various categories. It was awarded Dr. Sharma, "which depicts the educational programme for general audience, for promoting the culture, tradition, skills and new program on Child Education, Science, environment, and environment and human rights. This award was given for 'Environment Coastal and Best Documentaries'.

CULTURE COASTAL
Manohar Khushalani

Under Production of the film. An interesting feature this year was to open the nomination to the producers of film communication institutions. UGC-CEC for the category Best Film (Foreign Educational Video Programme) of the year. A prize money of Rs. 50,000 in the foreign category was awarded to 'The Day of the Sea' (India) produced by G.D. Sharma, Open University, St. Lucia. An attractive award winning film that one would like to see is 'The Day of the Sea' (India) produced by G.D. Sharma. It is a production by a student, Mr. Sharma, in this film a great deal on his own by the year's award that has been given to the film. The award is given to the best film in the world and is published in the magazine 'The Day of the Sea' is an award winning production by G.D. Sharma, which depicts the culture, tradition and values of human life. The award is given to the best film in the world and is published in get started look at members of the more features of today.

Environment Coastal has been an educational subject meant to show the quality of the degree courses. The aim of the award is to promote education and to encourage the students to get started in their own way.

With an award by the award, Dr. Sharma gives the award of educational programme being shown prominently and given awards to the producers of the program.