Forget me not| Ojaswini Trivedi

As the rays of your beam Transcend through our sheets The creases collapsing with time One after the other, He, after him after you The blinding intoxicating power A touch, innocent, eternal A smile, banished, surrendered Will you remember that we loved? That we loved, despite knowing Knowing it won't last. So as long as you walk through life Trying to find me the "Touch-me-nots" Remember our macadam of broken dreams. A life we never lived.

A life undone Unfinished