

The Pearly Dew Drop Speaks

A few dew drops rests on the primroses with garden greens
It seems like glistening pearls to a few
But the drying drops knows for sure
That they are indeed not the pearly wealthy whites
But only a few drops of glistening moist moments
On the rich laden scented garden

They might be adorned. only come back may another day

If the willingness of fair weather and fade-in garden days permits
