Ojaswini Trivedi

A 16 year old activist

Ojaswini Trivedi, is all of 16. With endurance and determination she writes to express her perspectives, experiences and encounters. Poetry takes her to a different dimension where inquiry is superseded by faith and love. Her hobbies are photography and music, a channel that connects her with purity and innocence that seems to have been dragged in the reverse direction as we move towards “liberalization and globalization”. She has been the TERI ambassador, as environmental conservation is a part of her being, retaliating to those foolish nincompoops who take nature for granted is her obsession and therefore she writes in the hope…..to make a difference.
